ADVANCING YOUR MISSION

The Right Partner Can Turn Challenges into Opportunities

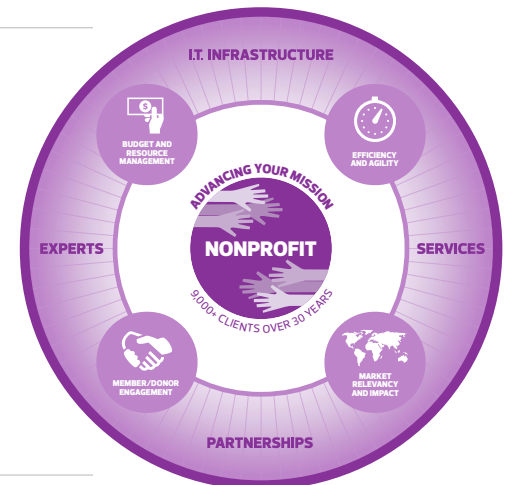

Foundations are growing at a rapid pace in the nonprofit sector. In the U.S. alone there more than 86,000 foundations, with more than $715 billion in assets and over $54 billion in giving.¹ CDW Nonprofit recognizes that this rapid growth, combined with today's swift pace of technology changes, presents unique challenges.

Our knowledge of the complex nonprofit landscape, as well as the individual technology needs of each type of foundation – independent, operating, community or corporate – can help your foundation better support its charitable activities and serve the common good. Networking and collaboration can streamline grant management activities, while data analytics can provide donors with more visibility into how and where their donations are being utilized. Finally, we know that maintaining the security of your foundation's sensitive data is paramount to protecting your reputation and retaining the trust of your constituents.

At CDW Nonprofit, we can provide the technology guidance you need – including access to like-minded organizations – so you can make the right IT decisions for your foundation, at a pace that works for your staff and volunteers.
